- Old Business

Residence Hall upgrades, approved request for technology upgrades in dorms, a computer for the work study team, granted $12000, granted to Carly in RH

Creative Writing Club was officially recognized last week

New Jersey Student Leadership Conference, leaving tomorrow via Kitsap Airporter. Sending out itinerary and breakout sessions directly after meeting. Will be allocating funds tomorrow on Airporter.

Portland NERSA conference with Jaymie, excellent experience for Brandon, has been busy but is hoping to share what he learned over the conference.

- New Business

- Chartering SAGA Club

- Adeline: Saga is supposed to be an organization committed to the support of LGBTQ+ students here at OC, connecting them to other orgs in the local area to provide an additional support network.

- Questions for the SAGA Club: None

- Katie approves SAGA for chartership, Katie moves to recognize, Rosie seconded, SAGA officially chartered.

- Brandon thanks them for bringing back club

- Volleyball Club Chartering

- Mira: They'd like to start the club to meet once or twice a week, especially to reach out to international students, and connect them with local student. Sports are an easy way to connect because there's very little language barrier. It will also contribute to a good destressing activity to support work-life balance.

- Questions from Officers:

- Brandon: Have you spoken with Jaymie or Barry regarding using the gym

- Mira: Yes, sent an email to Barry, but there has been no response

- Katie: the club is eligible for chartership at this time, moves to recognize it, seconded

- Brandon: Thank you for making this club

Liam Hunt is sworn in as Vice President of SGOC

Kaede is sworn in as Office and Food Pantry Assistant of SGOC

Budget Hearing

Looking to formulate a budget based on average scores, waiting

Implementing an appeals process for next fiscal year, looking for funding to be a little more equitable

SGOC Dir. Of Student Life & Clubs:

Club Congress hosted a Poulsbo club fair, got to meet many students and gained a lot of interest.

Rosie and katie went to international orientation, was able to reach many different kinds of students.

4 clubs in various stages of chartership, including volleyball club

Program Assistant/SGOC Advisor:

Formulating hiring committee for next year's SGOC

Working on promotional materials, with big/small posters, canvas, social media, strong coordination with communications

Trying to make sure everything is in place for people to leave for New Jersey conference

Approved to change the website in place of Heather

Cochair for student advancement council for shared governance

Hopes to present SGOC needs to student advancement council

Brandon notes that Student Advancement is the funnest council, congratulates Malukah

Spenddown Plan updates:

Student focus group/information session scheduled

Is hoping to have it take place in the BSC common area, as that's where students congregate

This would be with the goal to have a student funded center, with it being somewhere between 20 and 30 dollars in quarterly fees for a few years.

Has been working with someone with a lot of experience

Last time SGOC did this, around 750 students voted, partnered with the Y, but the request was eventually disapproved by the board. The proposal might not go to the board this year, but hopefully the vote will be finished by may or early june. Haven't met with YMCA yet, but the Y wants to move out of their old Bremerton facility. A portion of the facility is owned by the city, the state and the government. Has a partnership with UW, where Brandon visited with Trevor Ross to learn more about how it was funded and made possible. Brandon was worried about how much of an influence the Y would have in comparison to OC, but ended up being encouraged by what he saw. The Y will expand the student base and resources offered to students, and will be a great addition to student life.

Questions:

Rosie: Would a Y partnership open up more work study positions?

Brandon: UW has it done that way, but if it were here, most likely the Y would be in charge of the hiring process. Supposedly, 85% of employees are students, so the short answer is yes. One advantage of this is Child Watch, which is similar to childcare. This will provide additional support to our current childcare department, which has a staffing issue. Childcare can only have 16 or 17 students working.

Malikah: Brandon could you give details on working in Alaska?

Brandon: Taking off May 7th to get recertified in First Aid and CPR in Alaska. Hoping to work more weekends, a 3 on 4 off or 4 on 3 off. Schedule will fluctuate a little bit, but I will try to maintain good communication. Wherever the Executive Council Meeting lands, Brandon will try to be sure to get that day off.

Malikah: Future executive council meetings. The current schedule has everyone working on Mondays. Unfortunately, Tuesdays, Liam has class on Tuesdays and an internship. (Judie Jose calls, and Katie has to leave for class). If we did Tuesday, it would have to be 8 AM. Other than that, Mondays are best. Every other day, the schedule staggers too much to really be workable. It can be pushed to 8:30 instead. (Brandon further advises meeting be pushes to 8:30)

All future meetings will be held at 8:30 AM on Tuesdays
